

Did you know an SRA Does NOT Make You HIPAA Compliant?

SRAs are an important part of HIPAA, but the regulation mandates that you assess ALL areas of HIPAA compliance

HIPAA Fines Make Headlines:

"Six Security Risk Assessments Fail to Prevent $2.7 Million HIPAA Settlement"

Completing your SRA is important but doing an SRA alone won't save you.

Security Risk Assessments are required to address the Technical Safeguards illustrated in the HIPAA Security Rule (45 CFR 164.312) but do not address the Privacy and Administrative requirements.

If you're involved in a HIPAA audit and haven't addressed the FULL EXTENT of the law, your practice could be found in "willful neglect" of HIPAA regulation—landing you multi-million dollar fines (45 CFR 160.401).
